Boenning & Scattergood expands Northeast community bank sales & trading effort in Financial Institutions Group with addition of Brad Rinschler

West Conshohocken, Pennsylvania, October 25, 2016 – Boenning & Scattergood, Inc., a leading independent asset management and investment banking firm, has announced that Brad Rinschler has joined the firm as Director, Institutional Equities. In this role, he will provide an additional resource for the firm’s continuously growing list of community bank clients.

Mr. Rinschler joins Boenning & Scattergood from FIG Partners in Atlanta, Georgia where he was Senior Vice President, Institutional Equities and Corporate Development. Prior to joining FIG Partners, he was an analyst for Royal Capital Management covering financials and Regional/Community Bank Portfolio Manager for First Empire Securities (Asset Management Division). Mr. Rinschler is a graduate of Hofstra University’s Frank G. Zarb School of Business in 2001 with a B.A. in Finance and a 4-Year Varsity Scholar Athlete on the golf team.

“We are excited to have someone of Brad’s caliber join Boenning & Scattergood’s effort in providing community bank clients a comprehensive suite of product offerings,” commented Michael Galantino, Managing Director, Institutional Equity Sales and Private Client Group. “His deep-rooted relationships in the Northeast region will not only expand our equity sales and trading efforts in the community bank space, but also serve the needs of institutional and individual clients of the firm.”

The financial services industry continues to be an area of focus for Boenning & Scattergood, as evidenced by continuous growth in the community banking sector through additions in equity research, sales & trading and investment banking divisions of the firm.
